

Nobel Prize Awarded to Dr. Bruce Beutler

October 03, 2011

Dear Colleagues:

I know you share my pride in the announcement that Dr. Bruce Beutler, who has this month returned to UT Southwestern to lead the Center for the Genetics of Host Defense, today received the Nobel Prize in Medicine.

The following press release notes Dr. Beutler's accomplishments, which date to his earliest work in the field of innate immunity while on the faculty at UT Southwestern.

Please join me in congratulating our 5th UT Southwestern Nobel Laureate, Dr. Bruce Beutler, on this distinct honor.

Daniel K. Podolsky, M.D.
President, UT Southwestern Medical Center

Read the Full News Release.

UT Southwestern Scientist Shares 2011 Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine