Cochlear dissection after insertion of a perimodiolar type electrode array (Advanced Bionics standard Helix). Segments of the osseous lamina and basilar membrane have been removed to more clearly show the array in scala tympani. The apical portion of the silicone carrier is darkened due to osmium staining.