

A: Cross section of a vein (arrow) on the floor of scala tympani. Note that it has only a thin connective tissue covering.

B: Longitudinal section of a vein (arrows) on floor of scala tympani. The vessel appears completely exposed to the perilymphatic space.

