UT Southwestern Pelvic Floor Symposium

Who Should Attend
The symposium is designed for Physicians, Nurses, Nurse Practitioners, Physical Therapists and Physicians Assistants interested in the treatment of pelvic floor disorders within the fields of Internal Medicine and Primary care physicians, Urologists, Gynecologists, and Colorectal Surgeons.

Purpose
Update on the multidisciplinary approach to the evaluation and treatment of pelvic floor disorders including recent advances in pelvic organ prolapse, fecal incontinence, pelvic pain and constipation. The course is aimed at providing tools to practitioners so they can identify, evaluate and offer effective therapy for pelvic floor disorders. The ability to perform these tasks has been identified as lacking in multiple national publications and guidelines.

Educational Objectives
Upon completion of this course, participants should be able to • Identify mechanisms behind pelvic floor disorders through careful screening
• Perform directed pelvic floor history and physical examination
• Identify and manage therapy for urinary incontinence, fecal incontinence, constipation, and pelvic organ prolapse
• Identify the mechanisms behind chronic pelvic pain and be able to initiate treatment
• Discuss the role of pelvic floor physical therapy in the treatment of pelvic floor disorders
• Discuss the pros and cons of pelvic mesh and slings
• Identify complex patients who require referral to a subspecialist

Accreditation
The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuous medical education for physicians.

The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center designates this live activity for a maximum of 6.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

ADA Statement
Please check this box if you require accommodation because of a disability to make this program accessible to you. Someone from our office will then be in touch with you.
This course is meant to educate physicians with what is currently in use and what may be prior to the activity. A primary mechanism to resolve identified conflicts of interest is a content review panel. Attendees are responsible for identifying their own personal conflicts of interest, including financial or other conflicts and disclosing them to the program director. Attendees are also expected to avoid any conflicts by abstaining from activities that may benefit the entity with which they have a conflict of interest. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

The registration fee entitles participants admission to the conference, all course materials, continental breakfasts, refreshment breaks and lunches during the meeting. The registration fee is non-refundable after August 29, 2014.
Register on-line at utsouthwestern.edu/pelvicfloorsymposium
