Statement of Institutional Commitment to Graduate Medical Education
August 2017

UT Southwestern is committed to providing an organized and supportive educational program with guidance and supervision of the residents and fellows, facilitating each resident's professional development and personal well-being while ensuring safe and appropriate care for patients. As a sponsoring institution, UT Southwestern provides appropriate administrative organization and support for the conduct of Graduate Medical Education in a scholarly environment and is committed to excellence in both education and patient care. UT Southwestern affirms its commitment to Graduate Medical Education to provide and maintain the institutional infrastructure including personnel, equipment, facilities, and resources necessary to support an appropriate learning environment for its residents and fellows. This commitment is exhibited by the provision of leadership and resources, including faculty and funds that enable UT Southwestern to achieve substantial compliance with the ACGME Institutional, Common, and specialty/subspecialty-specific Program Requirements. This includes provision of an ethical and professional clinical learning environment in which the educational curricular requirements, as well as the applicable requirements for scholarly activity, are met.

Graduate Medical Education is an integral part of providing the academic atmosphere necessary to accomplish the mission of UT Southwestern. UT Southwestern's support of these goals is monitored through existing reporting mechanisms by the Dean of the Medical School, the Chairs of the Clinical Departments, and the Graduate Medical Education Committee. The regular assessment of the quality of all educational programs is recognized as an essential component of this commitment. The postgraduate medical education programs will be conducted in compliance with the specified requirements of the ACGME.
